

THURSDAY,
NOVEMBER 26, 1958

THE JERUSALEM POST

PRICE: 150 PRUTA
VOL. XXXV, No. 3565

MECHANICO
FINEST IN AUTOMOTIVE PARTS
MECHANICO
HAZERIA • TEL-AVIV • HAIFA

B-G Repeats Offer Of Talks on Refugees

Jerusalem Post Diplomatic Correspondent
Israel's readiness to open direct talks with the Arab leaders on the Arab refugee problem was reiterated by Prime Minister Ben-Gurion at a meeting in Tel Aviv on Wednesday with the Canadian parliamentary delegation. Some form of indirect negotiations might also be considered, Mr. Ben-Gurion added.

Israel would be willing to contribute to a solution in two ways, Mr. Ben-Gurion emphasized:

• Through the payment of compensation for abandoned Arab lands.

• Through the contribution of Israel's experience in refugee resettlement, with the clear understanding that the Arab refugees are to be resettled in Arab countries such as Syria and Iraq, where the land and water resources necessary for resettlement are available.

The solution of the Arab refugee problem will, however, depend mainly on the will and readiness of the Arab leadership, Mr. Ben-Gurion stressed.

It is understood that Israel's consent to negotiations on the refugee problem through a third party would be conditioned on the intention by all parties to have the talks progress towards direct talks with the Arab leaders.

It is also understood, on the other hand, that Israel will not cooperate in the creation of any new U.N. body in addition to the U.N. Relief and Works Agency for the refugees. In the first stage of indirect talks an individual mediator might be called to assist, it is believed.

The Arab refugee question was raised by several members of the Canadian delegation after Israel's agricultural development, irrigation, immigrant absorption and government systems had been discussed.

Prime Minister Ben-Gurion also praised Canada's initiative on the formation of the U.N. Emergency Force, which is contributing notably to the maintaining of peace in the area.

The nine-man delegation, headed by Speaker Ronald Michener, was accompanied at the meeting by the Canadian Ambassador, Miss Margaret Meagher, the acting Director of the Foreign Ministry's Commonwealth Division, Mr. Zvi Locker, and the Knesset Sergeant-at-Arms, Sam-Alef M. Hatzor.

New Proposal for UNEF Budget

UNITED NATIONS. — A draft resolution was presented in the General Assembly's Administrative and Budgetary Committee yesterday designed to lessen the cost burden for the maintenance of the U.N. Emergency Force for most members of the U.N., but increasing the cost for the five permanent members of the Security Council.

The resolution was introduced by seven of the eight member states which contribute troops to the U.N.E.F. These are Brazil, Canada, Colombia, Denmark, Norway, Sweden, and Yugoslavia. The eight members of the group contributing troops, India, refrained from co-sponsorship of the resolution.

Under the draft proposal, member states will be "invited" to increase their contributions to U.N.E.F. maintenance in 1960 on a voluntary basis by December 31. The total amount thus raised would be accredited to the U.N.E.F. 1960 budget of $20m, and this credit would cut in half the contributions to be assessed from all the other governments except the U.S., Britain, France and Nationalist China.

The purpose of the resolution is to ease the burden of U.N.E.F. assessments on those member states which are willing to support the Force, but find the cost too heavy.

On the other hand, the Soviet Union, as one of the permanent members of the Security Council, would still owe its total assessment.

"On principle" because Moscow considers U.N.E.F. to bear the sole responsibility of Britain, France and Israel, as the "aggressors" in the 1956 Sinai-Suez events that brought about the formation of the Force. The U.S.S.R. has consistently refused and still refuses to pay any money whatever to its maintenance.

The U.S. has already announced that, in addition to its regular U.N.E.F. assessment of $2.51 per cent of the Force's budget, it is making an additional voluntary contribution of $3.2m.

Thus the U.S. has pledged to pay $9.7m, or nearly 30 per cent of the U.N.E.F. 1960 budget.

Britain has also announced a voluntary contribution of $275,000 in addition to its regular assessment.

The U.S. has accused the Soviet Union openly of switching its U.N.E.F. costs. Nothing is being said, however, about the fact that the United Arab Republic is also in arrears on its share, having paid nothing on that account to date. Israel, on the other hand, is up-to-date on its payments.

FEAR 15 DROWNED IN NEW ZEALAND GALE TINARU, New Zealand (Reuters). — Six Britons and nine New Zealanders were feared drowned when the 600-ton coaster Holmwood sank in a gale off the South Island Tuesday night.

U.K. STUDIES BUILDING SECOND ATOMIC SUB

LONDON (Reuters). — The Admiralty is giving "careful consideration to the possibility of building a second nuclear-powered submarine

Mapam Wants Ahдут in Gov't, Without G.Z.

Jerusalem Post Reporter
TEL AVIV. — The Mapam Political Committee on Wednesday decided to oppose the inclusion of the General Zionists in the new Cabinet and posed as another condition for joining the Government the inclusion of Ahдут Ha'avoda.

The committee's action followed a report on the previous day's talks between Prime Minister Ben-Gurion and the Mapam leaders Meir Ya'ari and Ya'akov Hazan.

The committee criticized sharply what the General Zionists attempted to offer the lines of policy of the previous Government.

It is understood that Mr. Ya'ari reported that the Premier indicated his willingness to reinstate certain clauses which had been dropped in the new formulation of the Basic Principles.

Freedom of Action

Mapam will also demand freedom of action for its Ministers on such questions as ties with Germany, the Military Government and Electoral Reform. Regarding Cabinet discipline, the Mapam Committee decided to support the Ahдут Ha'avoda decision that if a Coalition Knesset faction finds it impossible to vote with the Cabinet majority, its Ministers should resign from the Cabinet.

A further meeting between Mapam and Mr. Ben-Gurion is expected shortly. The Mapam leaders are due to meet with the Mapai Knesset faction when Mr. Avi Govrin, M.K., on their attitude to the expected nomination of Mr. Kadish Luz as Knesset Speaker. It is assumed that Mapam will vote in favoring the situation.

At U.N. Headquarters, the Director of UNRWA, Mr. John Davis said in reply to a question on Mr. Hertzer's statement about trafficking in ration cards, "I have seen no submission from the U.S. mission on this subject." But he said the matter was mentioned in his annual report.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan said yesterday that Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

U.N. Must Care For Refugees — Majali

Premier Majali of Jordan regards the Arab refugees as the responsibility of the U.N. "until they are repatriated," he reported.

The radio said the Premier made this statement in reply to questions as he emerged from a Cabinet meeting.

Social &amp; Personal

Marshal K. Voroshilov, President of the Soviet Union, has sent President Ben-Zvi a cable thanking him for his greetings and good wishes to him and to the peoples of the Soviet Union on the occasion of the forty-second anniversary of the October Revolution.

President Ben-Zvi on Wednesday received Mr. William Frankel, Editor of the London "Jewish Chronicle."

The Foreign Minister, Mrs. Golda Meir, yesterday received the four members of the House Foreign Affairs Committee who are now in Israel as a Congressional Study Commission. Mr. John P. Dulles (D., Ga.); Mrs. Margaret Church (R., Ill.); Mr. Daniel R. Feltel (D., Fla.); and Mr. Harris B. McDowell (D., Del.). Present were the U.S. Ambassador, Mr. Ogden B. Reid; the secretary of the Commission, Mr. Franklin Scappi; and Mr. Victor Skiles, Deputy Director of U.S.O.M. in Israel.

Congresswoman Marguerite Church of Illinois, yesterday visited Hadassah medical institutions in Jerusalem with the company of Mrs. Julia A. Dushkin, Chairman of the Hadassah Council in Israel. She was also the Council's guest to lunch at the Alice Seeligberg Vocational High School.

The Minister of Justice, Mr. Pinhas Rosen, on Tuesday received the Austrian delegation here to sign an extradition agreement with Israel. The delegation was headed by the Austrian Ambassador, Dr. Ernst Lissner, and included the Director of the Conventions Department of the Austrian Foreign Ministry, Dr. A. Fischer, and his assistant, Dr. A. Drechsler.

The Minister of Commerce and Industry, Mr. P. Sapir, on Wednesday received Dr. A. Aitzschul, F.A.O. expert on vegetable oils and proteins.

The Canadian Parliamentary Mission headed by the Speaker of the House of Commons, Mr. Ronald M. Chenier, on Wednesday paid a visit to the Weizmann Institute in Rehovot. A luncheon was given in their honour by the President of the Institute, Mr. Abba Eban. Other visitors to the Institute on Wednesday included U.S. senators Albert Gore and Gale McGee; the Director-General of the Norwegian Ministry of Health, Dr. Karl Evang; and a delegation of American members of the International College of Surgeons.

EMERGENCY PHARMACIES
JERUSALEM: Asuta, 12 King George, 5722; Tel Aviv, 66 Allenby, 62252; Yanai, 67 Yehuda Ha-Levi, 62474; Ora, 99 Dizengoff, 2201; Nordan, 181 Ben Yehuda, 2281; Haifa, 100 Ben Yehuda, 31 St., 52533.

EMERGENCY PHYSICIANS
JERUSALEM: Dr. Oren, 62 Agripa, 5874; Dr. Shor, 48 Rashi, Tel Aviv; Dr. Shabtai, 12 Shalom, 25749; Dr. Har-Evi, 15 Shemesh, 25411; Dr. Weiss, 18 Dinstoff; Dr. Simon, 43 Keren Yavneh, 51347; Dr. Warren, 15 27027.

HAIFA: Dr. Sherman, 3 Rehov Hanavim, 2424.

A memorial meeting on the 25th anniversary of the death of Baron Edmond de Rothschild was held at Ramat Hanadiv on Wednesday.

BIRTH
ARTHUR — To Mrs. Goldberg at the Elisha Hospital, Haifa, a daughter, sister to Tally and Danny.

Mr. A. Feldman, Chairman of the Ladies' Fashions Branch, 22 Rehov Allenby, Tel Aviv, has returned from a visit to the U.S., Canada, England, France and Italy.

ISRAEL NATIONAL OPERA
Opera House • Air Conditioned
1 Allenby Rd., Tel Aviv
La Bohème
by Puccini

with Michiko Sunahara
Sat., Nov. 28, Sun., Dec. 5.
Wed., Dec. 9.

MADAME BUTTERFLY
with Michiko Sunahara
Mon., Nov. 30.
Wed., Dec. 2.
Sat., Dec. 13.

RENOVOT —
"Bell' Italia,"
Thursday, Dec. 1 at 9 p.m.
Tickets at Bachrach.

BARBER OF SEVILLE
Wed., Dec. 2

ALEXANDRA
Tuesday, Dec. 3

LA TRAVIATA
Sunday, Dec. 13

All performances start at 8:30 p.m.
Tickets at the Box Office
(10-3; 4-8; Tel. 27760).
Tickets: Ramat Gan — Tel.

Subscription Tickets

still available at the Opera House between 8-1 and 4-6.

Inbal Gets $10,000 From N.Y. Opening

NEW YORK. — The Inbal dancing troupe opened at the City Centre in New York City on Tuesday night before a packed house and scored a huge success.

The performances, a benefit for the scholarship fund of the America-Israel Cultural Foundation, raised $10,000 which will be used to bring over promising Israeli artists for advanced study in the U.S.

The "New York Times" critic wrote: "Such an engrossing stageful of people, fairies bursting with exuberance, would be very hard to resist."

The dancers are magnificent; the melodies that comprise the musical background are fascinating, and hats must be doffed to a daring and gifted choreographer."

The critic of the New York "Herald Tribune" said: "Dancing of an ecstatic nature is the key ingredient of Inbal, but rare excitement is to be found also in its musical instruments and the human voice."

"Some of the dances will lift you right out of your seats. The entire programme is sparked with energy, with enthusiasm, with a wonderful dynamic brightness."

Skill and Charm

The "Daily News" reviewer said: "The troupe was noteworthy for its skill and charm and for the high quality of its offerings. The spectators were impressed by the splendid artistic unity of the group, so lovingly moulded by its producer-choreographer, Sam Levi-Tanai."

Among the first-night audience were Ambassador Avraham Harari, diplomats, dancers and choreographers including Martha Graham, Jerome Robbins and Anna Sokolow.

The Inbal group will remain in New York until December 6, after which it will spend one month touring other American cities before returning to Israel.

IQ Won't be Corralled for 8th Graders' Marks

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The widely criticized question in the examinations in which eighth grade elementary school children sat for last week to test their eligibility for reduced fees in a secondary school were part of an intelligence test inserted in the questionnaire.

The answers will not be recorded in the marks, the Ministry of Education's spokesman told The Jerusalem Post yesterday. Eighteen questions of intelligence questions out of the total of 138 were included since the nationwide examination was as an excellent opportunity to obtain added data, he said.

The Ministry's Pedagogic Secretariat is responsible for the questionnaire. Many pupils were tense before the examinations and the Secretary will try to devise means of preventing this. One possibility is that of keeping the date of future examinations secret. The test intentionally does not require special preparation.

Italy Shows Before Returning to Rome

Jerusalem Post Reporter

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

Fully briefed by the Israel Tourist Corporation in Rome on what they could purchase here, the girls went home loaded with Eilat stone jewelry and grace. Mrs. Cezanne is the wife of a Jewish advertising man at the Rome "Daily American." She is extremely enthusiastic about Israel, and says the people here are among the friendliest in the world.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday. Standing directly behind her is Mrs. Renilde Gondola of the Centro Romano per L'Alta Moda Italiana, the six mannequins and Yardena Carmel and Amos Gur Aryeh of the Citrus Agency who made the arrangements for the group in Israel.

Fashion Models from Italy shown above before returning to Rome. Seated and wearing glasses is Mrs. Bice Cezanne, who left by El Al yesterday. Standing directly behind her is Mrs. Renilde Gondola of the Centro Romano per L'Alta Moda Italiana, the six mannequins and Yardena Carmel and Amos Gur Aryeh of the Citrus Agency who made the arrangements for the group in Israel.

Elegant, Well-Dressed Women Found Here

By DIANA LERNER

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

Fully briefed by the Israel Tourist Corporation in Rome on what they could purchase here, the girls went home loaded with Eilat stone jewelry and grace. Mrs. Cezanne is the wife of a Jewish advertising man at the Rome "Daily American." She is extremely enthusiastic about Israel, and says the people here are among the friendliest in the world.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials who came to their hotel in Herzliya to clear their six boxes of air freight containing 100 items and personal effects and insured for about $30,000. The mannequins were insured for $10,000 a head.

A mannequin's career through-out their stay.

TEL AVIV.—Italian fashions are the best, barring none, maintains Mrs. Bice Cezanne, fashion reporter and editor of "This Week in Rome" who left by El Al yesterday.

The group was impressed with the cooperation and courtesy of Israel customs officials

Today's Postbag

The Weather

FORECAST: Fair and dry with low temperatures.

Weather Synopsis: General influence ridge from Russia to the East Mediterranean is causing a flow of cold and dry air to our region.

	A	B	C	D
Mr. Canaan	33	3	13	12
Tiberias	33	18	22	21
Haifa	30	18	22	21
Naharia	18	13	20	19
Tel Aviv	Kiryat	20	20	19
Tel Aviv	Port	20	20	19
Lydd	Airport	20	21	19
Jerusalem	13	6	13	12
Bethsheba	13	4	18

(A) Humidity at 8 p.m. (B) Minimum temp. (C) Maximum temp. (D) Maximum temp. expected today.

ARRIVALS

Mr. Bar-Kochba Meirovitch, from Germany (by El Al).

Mr. Sidney Morris, architect, and Mr. Jerome Clips, engineer, from the U.S. to supervise the completion of the Nahariya Plaza Hotel for the Hotel Corporation of America (by B.O.A.C.).

Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Ostreich, of Long Island, New York, and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Yoel of Cleveland, Ohio, to tour Israel under the auspices of the United Jewish Appeal.

Mr. S.G. Goldsmith, London correspondent of the Jerusalem Post and going for a short visit (by B.O.A.C.).

DEPARTURES

Mr. D. Israel, of Bank Leumi, from London, to be present at the opening of the "Anglo-Israel Bank" there on December 1 (by El Al).

Mr. F. Pfeil, Adviser on Anthropology to the Ministry of Health, for Copenhagen, where he will serve as adviser to a seminar on psychiatry under the auspices of the World Health Organization (by El Al).

SENIOR OFFICIALS of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry on Wednesday took an oath of allegiance to the State in the presence of the Minister, Mr. Pinhas Sapir.

Hava Lichtenstein, Weizmann's Sister

TEL AVIV. — The death took place here on Wednesday night of Mrs. Hava Lichtenstein-Weizmann, sister of the first President of Israel. She was 80, and died at her home after a brief illness. The funeral will leave Hadassah Hospital at 11:30 this morning.

As a child, she studied in a yeshiva together with boys, an extraordinary thing in her time. She also studied Russian and other secular subjects, and passed examinations for a technical secondary school. In 1897 she received her diploma as a teacher.

During her student days, she devoted much time to Zionist affairs. After receiving employment in a school in Pinsk, she founded a Zionist organization, "B'nai Zion" — Daughters of Zion. Together with others, she prepared courses in Hebrew for the general public.

In 1905 she was married to Avraham Lichtenstein. During the disturbances in Pinsk in 1903, she was active in the self-defence movement in that city. Two years later her husband moved to Warsaw, and there she continued her Zionist activities, together with Nahum Hacohen, Y.L. Peretz, and S.L. Gordon.

With the outbreak of World War I, her husband moved to Ekaterinoslav (now Dnepropetrovsk) where she opened a Hebrew kindergarten. She was elected a member of the City Council, and of the Jewish Community Council, and in 1921 was elected as the City's delegate to the 12th Zionist Congress.

In November 1921, she came to this country, first settling in Haifa, then in Tel Aviv, where she was one of the founders of B'nai Brit in Tel Aviv.

She leaves a son, Michael Lichtenstein, an engineer in the Jerusalem Municipality, and a daughter, Israela, a teacher at the Shulamit Conservatory of Music, who is married to a member of the Ohel Theatre, Meir Margalit.

Z. Rosenblum, Sorbonne Physicist, Dies at 63

News has reached Jerusalem of the death on Sunday in a traffic accident in Paris of Professor S.Z. Rosenblum, Professor of Physics at the Sorbonne.

He was 63.

The funeral will take place on Thursday.

Born in Poland, he was educated in Germany and Denmark. He has made his home in France since 1923.

Mr. Rosenblum visited Israel several times. A cousin of Mr. Shlomo Zalman Shazar, Chairman of the Jewish Agency Executive, his full name was also Shlomo Zalman Rosenblum. He has a brother and sister living in Israel.

In 1923 he was appointed an assistant at the Curie Laboratories in Paris. In 1929, he discovered the fine structure of Alpha rays, which was one of the first proofs of energy levels in atomic nuclei. The discovery was utilized by Rutherford and Gurney in explaining the property of atomic nuclei.

During World War II, he lectured at Princeton, and after the War, returned to France to supervise the building of a huge magnet which was used to increase the possibilities of studying the fine structure of Alpha rays.

He was appointed Director of this research plant which was officially known as the Laboratory of the Grand Magnet.

Body Found of Israel Sailor Drowned in NY

HAIFA. — The body of Haim Beniste, the sailor on the s.s. Israel who drowned in the collision in New York harbour on October 29, has been found. The Zim spokesman announced that it would be brought here for burial.

Mendes-France Pays Tribute To Israel as 'Beacon of Hope'

By MAURICE CARK, Jerusalem Post Reporter

"To see the country, to feel the throb of its extraordinary vitality, is to measure the immense debt of gratitude we owe to Israel. The people of Israel, by their achievements, their great courage and pioneering spirit, offer the world new reasons for hope and optimism. At a time when so much misunderstanding and hostility bars the way to a better future, Israel stands out as a beacon of hope; if men are capable of such constructive work as is being done here, then we need not despair of humanity as a whole."

This was M. Pierre Mendes-France, former Prime Minister of France, speaking on Wednesday at a reception given in his honour by the World Jewish Congress at the King David Hotel in Jerusalem. Among the guests were Cabinet Ministers, Government officials and diplomatic and consular representatives of France, Abyssinia, Finland, Gt. Britain, Guatemala, Spain, Switzerland, Turkey, the United States and Yugoslavia.

Mr. A. Tarkowski, Chairman of the W.C.J. in Israel, presided.

Expressing regret that he would be staying only an ordinary week here, M. Mendes-France declared: "I intend, I have promised myself, to come back again. More than a brief visit is needed to take in and comprehend and meditate all the extraordinary things that are to be witnessed here. In France I shall make it my business to inform my friends, my compatriots and fellow-Jews as fully as I can about what is happening here."

M. Mendes-France was to have left Israel tomorrow but has postponed his departure till Tuesday.

"Throughout the world," he went on, "there is vast and merited admiration for the extraordinary experiment which is being so successfully carried out here — the reconstruction of Israel after centuries of extinction.

Among water economy steps envisaged by the Minister were plans for the re-use of water in industry.

Mapai Against 3-Way Majority in Jerusalem

By MAURICE CARK, Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — The Mapai Central Committee will most probably reject the proposal by the religious factions in Jerusalem that the majority alternate between Mapai, the National Religious and Aguda factions, it was learned from Mapai circles last night.

Mapai believes that such an agreement would be against the best interests of the capital. It is pointed out that the running of the city is chiefly a matter of business administration. The affairs of Jerusalem had been put in order by the four-year Mapai Administration, under Mayor Agran, after several years of neglect; and the electorate had increased the strength of this party by 33 per cent (from six to eight seats).

It is feared that a rotation plan dictated purely by political considerations, such as the religious factions now propose (with three different Mayors taking their turns in four years), would seriously interfere with the efficient management of the city's affairs.

Goldstein to Lead Progressives in T.A.

By MAURICE CARK, Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — Councilor Moshe Goldstein will be the Progressive Party's Deputy Mayor of Tel Aviv. This follows an announcement by the head of the Party list, Mr. M. Stern, withdrawing his candidacy.

It is understood that Mr. Stern is learned on the City Council.

Gerard Philipe, French Movie Idol, Dead

By MAURICE CARK, Jerusalem Post Reporter

PARIS. — The leading romantic French actor, Gerard Philipe, aged 37, died at his home here on Wednesday of a heart attack.

For French film fans the shock was as shattering a shock as was the death of Flynn Power for Hollywood fans.

Philipe's pictures included "The Idiot," "Devil in the Flesh," "All Roads Lead to Rome," "La Ronde" and "Seven Deadly Sins."

NEHRU

(Continued from Page One)

Praga Socialist leader, said that while he supported the Government's non-alignment policy, he should declare its readiness to accept foreign aid in an emergency.

Suggesting that Mr. V. K. Krishna Menon should be removed from the Defense Ministry, Mr. Krishna said Mr. Menon might be a "good man, may be a patriotic person, and may be brilliant, but unfortunately he lacks the virtue of enjoying public confidence."

The opposition motions will be put to a vote after Mr. Nehru has replied to tomorrow's debate.

Mr. Nehru's proposals to China, which he referred to, were made on November 16 after he had described earlier suggestions by the Chinese as "impracticable."

The Indian Prime Minister called for the withdrawal of all Indian and Chinese forces from Ladakh, Chinese withdrawal from the Indian Northeast Frontier post of Longju, and an agreement that neither side should send out patrols along the rest of the frontier. (See Review, U.P.)

Attention All American Tourists

RAILWAY EXPRESS AGENCY NEW YORK ships

regularly from Israel to all parts of America and Canada Through Collective B/L.

Save freight expenses and valuable shipping time

TRANSLLOY LTD. Transports Services: 51 Hebrew Lillehlohim

Tel Aviv. Tel. 62282. Tel. 62282

Israel Still Using Too Much Water

By PHILIP GILLON, Jerusalem Post Reporter

TEL AVIV. — The country is still over-exploiting its water sources. Water Commissioner Zvi Neuman warned here on Wednesday.

Mr. Neuman was addressing 400 water-measurement experts from all parts of the country, who gathered for a one-day symposium at the Z.O.A. House.

He declared that the country's annual consumption is now amounted to a staggering 1,300 million cubic metres per year — in effect considerably more than the country's reserves warranted.

The large-scale introduction of water metres in urban and rural districts during the coming year, may go far to reduce consumption, Mr. Neuman hoped.

In spite of last year's normal rainfall, the speaker noted that consumption had remained unusually high because of the irregular distribution of the rains. Eleven consecutive months of irrigation were required, instead of the normal eight.

No Drop in Sight

Water requirements for 1959-60 are expected to remain at the same dangerous level, Mr. Neuman added.

A panel of experts is being set up to establish water consumption norms for rural and urban areas. Mr. Neuman doubted, however, if legal norms (in effect, water rationing) would be introduced without further injury. On Wednesday morning the quarrel burst into a free-for-all with 70 participants.

Trouble between the clans has plagued this fertile village for four years. Revaha, one of the most successful villages in Lachish, and all the villagers are noted for their industry. Forty-five families belong to the Levi clan, and 15 to the Rahamim; 13 families maintain an uneasy neutrality or drift from one side to the other.

The feud has made it impossible for the villagers to appoint a council or secretary, and the Jewish Agency has had to appoint Ashkenazim to maintain basic administrative services.

The obvious solution would seem to be to remove one clan to another village.

Mr. Levi Argov, Director of Hevel Lachish, points out that this would cost hundreds of thousands of pounds, even if it were considered morally acceptable to move people who have worked so hard to develop their land.

He said that similar feuds occur in several other villages in Lachish, making mass relocations an impossible solution.

Shilumin Corp. Won't Be Broken Up-Sapir

By PHILIP GILLON, Jerusalem Post Reporter

"I know nothing of any proposal submitted to any authorized institution about turning the Shilumin Corporation into a private monopoly after it winds up its task of importing Reparations goods."

This was stated in Jerusalem on Wednesday by Mr. Pinhas Sapir, Minister of Commerce and Industry, who took charge of Shilumin affairs.

The Minister of Agriculture, Mr. Kadish Lax, expressed the belief that the introduction of water-meters would be resisted by the authorities.

Mr. Sapir said that he personally would object to any such plan.

"The corporation was, and will continue to be for a considerable time to come the principal agency for Reparation affairs."

The Minister stressed that despite his appreciation of the corporation's activities he did not doubt that in due time a solution would be found to the problem of the workers. However, it was premature to discuss this at present.

A.F.L.-C.I.O. Head To Visit Israel

By PHILIP GILLON, Jerusalem Post Reporter

NEW YORK (INA). — Mr. George Meany, President of A.F.L.-C.I.O., yesterday accepted an invitation from Mr. Pinhas Sapir, General Secretary of the Histadrut, to visit Israel.

The invitation was extended to Mr. Meany through Mr. Yosef Almogi, Chairman of the Haifa Labour Council, now on a lecture tour of the U.S. on behalf of the National Committee for Labour Israel.

Mr. Meany may go to Israel next spring.

Early Army Discharge For Work Trainees

By PHILIP GILLON, Jerusalem Post Reporter

BEERSHEBA. — Agricultural trainees who sign up for agricultural training can go to work six months before their normal termination of service.

The Communists have been recently seeking support of educated young Arabs for publication of a political organ in an effort to repair some of the damage done by the elections to the party's prestige. They have lost their constituency among the Arab community, the organ claims.

The circulation of the Communists' fortnightly, "Al-Ittihad," has fallen off considerably, while the "Al-Jadid" and "Al-Ghad" magazines have almost disappeared from newsstands. Local prominent party men have been reduced to peddling the papers themselves.

Food Imports to Be Handed Over to Several Private Firms

By PHILIP GILLON, Jerusalem Post Reporter

The general policy of the Ministry of Commerce and Industry with regard to liberalizing food imports is to split them up among several private companies, each one to specialize in the import of a specific commodity.

This was explained to the presidents and leading figures of the Jerusalem, Tel Aviv and Haifa Chambers of Commerce who came to the Capital this week to meet the Director-General of the Ministry, Mr. Michael Tavor.

The meeting was indicative of a new departure. Previously efforts to find employment for servicemen were made only after their discharge.

Other speakers represented the Ministry of Labour, the State Employment Service, the Ministry of Agriculture, and the Shoham Navigation Co.

In the afternoon the soldiers were taken on a tour of the local vocational training school.

Grain and Meat Trade

In order to illustrate the different approaches to the organization of the food commodity imports, Mr. Tavor contrasted the situations existing in the grain and meat trades.

Mr. Tavor felt that organizing the import of grain was too large and complex a task for any private commercial interest in the country. In this case, he said, the Government will most likely set up a Government-owned import company. This company would in time issue bonds

THE JERUSALEM POST

Founded as the Palestine Post in 1922. Published daily except on Saturday, in Jerusalem by THE JERUSALEM POST LTD. Registered at the G.P.O. Copyright of all material reserved: reproduction permitted only by arrangement.

Founder
GERHARD AGNON

Managing Editor
TED R. LURIE

Editorial Office and Management: Rabinovitz Maharatzka, Jerusalem, P.O. Box 82 Tel. 4282 (6 lines) TEL AVIV Bureau: 55 Nahal Binyamin, P.O.B. 1126, Tel. 64251/2 HAIFA Bureau: 24 Rabin Herzl P.O.B. 6210, Tel. 4594 (2 lines) Annual Subscription: IL.52

Thursday, November 26, 1958
25 Shevat 5719. 25 Iyyar 1579

WHEN the Fourth Knesset next Monday, it may prove in many respects a crucial session. A good deal of the routine procedure of the Knesset has now been established; a good many of the old faces will be seen again, and no doubt that in the course of the next four years many of the accustomed party platitudes will be brought forth yet once more. The real crux of the matter is the part that the Knesset is destined to play in the life of the State, and in its development of a national political consciousness and loyalty in place of the sectarian loyalties that have grown up out of the history of the State as the fusion of a series of separate political movements in approximately the same direction.

There has been not a little talk, at times, that the Knesset was not allowed to play its full part. Its proper role is not, of course, to make day-by-day decisions — and such members of the opposition as cherish this belief, do not understand the functions of a "parliament," which, by definition, is a place for "talk". Yet in the long run, nothing is more important than this "talk," if it should present to the Government the views of the governed. To do this honestly and usefully, its members and factions must keep in close touch with the public that elected them. Knesset factions whose every word is determined from above are useless; members who only echo their leaders are scarcely listened to. It is no wonder that the Communist members habitually talk to empty benches.

There must be emphasis on party views for, after all, we elect party platforms and not individuals by our system. But there must also be room for the personal and individual opinions of which the parties are composed. The extent to which they are expressed, and the front-rank Knesset members take part in debates, depends largely on the way in which Knesset programmes are planned. In the strong government likely to be formed in the course of this Knesset session, if not immediately, by Mr. Ben-Gurion's stronger Mapai party, there will be plenty of leeway for divergent opinions when matters of principle are under discussion, a form of freedom not to be confused with rejection of collective cabinet responsibility after decisions have been made.

Under the direction of the first Speaker, the late Yosef Sprinzak, an attempt was made to weld the factions together into one whole. Mr. Sprinzak did succeed in bringing together in civil cooperation members more likely to have turned their backs on each other outside the Knesset building, and by this established a precedent in the matter of invaluable parliamentary manners. It seems likely that his successor will be Mr. Kadish Luz, now still Minister of Agriculture, and a veteran member, not only of Kibbutz Degania Bet, but of the Labour movement's organization and administration. Mr. Luz, like Mr. Sprinzak, enjoys a reputation not only for integrity, but for a peaceable approach to his fellows, including those with whom he disagrees, and as such appears to be eminently acceptable to the opposition parties as well as to his own side of the House. If Mr. Sprinzak persuaded the parties to cooperate, he will have to remind the members to represent the public. The effectiveness of the next Knesset as a debating platform of national policy will depend to a large extent on his willingness and ability to plan Knesset working programmes ahead with the foresight of a farmer growing next year's fodder, to cut short senseless procedural squabbles, and to stand firm against such administrative monstrosities as last session's nine deputy speakers.

THE AMERICAN SCENE

By Patrick O'Donovan

A-BOMB BAN WORRIES U.S.

WASHINGTON (OFNS)—PRESIDENT Eisenhower and his advisers are now convinced that the Russians want a sort of disarmament—not the total demobilization suggested by Mr. Khrushchev to the U.N., but something that will lighten the burden of Russian industry.

With this conviction behind them it would seem logical that there would be no more testing of nuclear bombs. Yet this is by no means certain. No bomb has been exploded anywhere for more than a year. This has been achieved by mutual consent and was done to achieve a calm in which a permanent agreement for the permanent ending of nuclear testing could be achieved. This, of course, has not been done.

It was on October 31, 1958 that the U.S. offered to suspend the testing of bombs. On November 1 and November 3 that year the Soviet Union exploded test bombs, and the President was careful to say that he was no longer obliged to continue the suspension, though he has in fact done so. The deadline for the resumption of testing is the end of this year.

The U.S. Government is under tremendous pressure to continue exploding bombs. So, according to Mr. Khrushchev in America is the Russian Government. In favour of the continuation of testing, but on the other hand, and the danger of all this, most of America's military, and even some of her diplomatic advisers.

"Clean Bomb"

The U.S. protagonists of testing insist that the suspension is wholly in America's disfavour. The ban came when they were behind the Russians and prevents them from developing lighter-weight warheads for their missiles or bombs that will produce less fall-out, i.e. the mythical "clean bomb." They also insist that the continuation of this de facto emotionally sparked suspension, is wholly in the Russian political interest. It means a permanent suspension of the test ban, and the part of America would be a disastrous prelude to a summit meeting.

It would mean the end of the 10-nation disarmament talks that are to take place early next year. It would mean the end of the three-nation talks on the banning of the bomb which are now only a year old. It would also delay a United Nations resolution of November 1958, of which the United States was a party, in favour of the ending of such tests.

It is not simply a moral problem. The Government of France has made it quite clear that it insists on paying the price of admittance to the atomic club (America, Russia and Britain) with the explosion of bombs.

Secretary of State Christian Herter, obviously feeling that America is being placed strategically and diplomatically at a disadvantage, is only for a short extension beyond the end of the year of this suspension of testing. He refuses to commit himself to this future.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by which we reap the fruits of life and labour in this fair land. Let us stand fast by the principles of our Republic, enumerated in word and deed by the statesmen, teachers, and prophets to whom we owe our beginnings. Let us be thankful that we have been spared the consequences of human frailty and error in our exercise of power and freedom. As a token of our gratitude for God's gracious gift of abundance, let us share generously with those less fortunate than we at home and abroad. Let us at this season of Thanksgiving perform deeds of thanksgiving; and, throughout the year, let us fulfil those obligations of citizenship and humanity which spring from grateful hearts.

The present year has been one of progress and heightened promise for the way of life to which we, the people and the Government of the United States of America are dedicated. We rejoice in the productivity of farm and factory, but even more so in the prospect of improvement of relations among man and among nations. We earnestly hope that forebearance, understanding and conciliation will hold increasing sway among us and among all peoples everywhere.

In the enjoyment of our good life, let us not forget the birthright by